Our actions today echo into the future.

In 1989, the Poole and Stollery families invested in Edmonton Community Foundation (ECF) with a simple goal: support our community for generations to come. Since then, generous people like Eldon Foote and thousands of other donors have joined us, creating endowments both large and small.

Edmonton looks different today than it did in 1989, and so do its needs. We stay relevant by listening to our community and adjusting how we work, always keeping an eye on the future.

Evolving for impact shows what we accomplished in 2024 to make ECF even more effective. With you, we're building a city where everyone can succeed.

Together we thrive.

ECF works in Treaty 6 Territory, the traditional lands of diverse First Nations including the Nehiyaw (Cree), Denesuliné (Dene), Nakota Sioux (Stoney), Anishnabe (Salteaux), and Niitsitapi (Blackfoot), and within the Métis homelands of the North Saskatchewan River Territory. These lands have long been places of gathering, ceremony, and community for many Nations. We honour this history and are inspired by Indigenous principles such as Seven-Generation thinking. As we are guided by those who came before, we act with care for those who will follow.

Together we make things possible.

Tina Thomas (L), Elisa Hung (R)

2024 was a year of transformation at ECF — a time of deep listening followed by bold adaptation to prepare us for the challenges and opportunities ahead. Evolving for impact captures this pivotal moment. It showcases how we're embracing change to remain responsive and deeply rooted in community.

Since our first $1 million granted in 1990, we've surpassed $439 million in cumulative support — powered by nearly 1,800 funds over 35 years. That's the power of collective giving and long-term community investment.

The best way to serve the community is to start by listening. In 2023, we asked for your input — and you delivered. You asked us to be bolder in our purpose and more visible in the community. We heard you and in 2024, we began taking action.

This past year, we reimagined our purpose, vision, mission, and values. The result is more than just a refreshed brand — it's a renewed commitment to clarity, community, and connection.

We're also delivering on your requests for more education and engagement opportunities. In 2024, we streamlined our Wills and Estate Administration Weeks and launched a recurring Thrive magazine column featuring expert advice from professional advisors including Cary Williams and Marshall McAllister of North Road Investment Counsel. These resources support donors in making informed philanthropic and legacy decisions.

To support our continued growth and ensure exceptional experiences for all our partners, we began strategically expanding our team. This means more capacity to serve, connect, and collaborate — now and in the future.

Our growth this year has been guided by your input. Thank you for sharing your voices, your insights, and your vision. As we look to the future, we're excited about the possibilities ahead and grateful for the community that continues to build ECF with us.

Together, we truly do thrive.

Elisa Hung, Board Chair

Our collective impact in 2024.

Because of you, ECF is the largest non-governmental funder of Edmonton's charitable sector. Together, we are doing great things for Edmonton.

Together we can do big things.

“ Because of ECF, we’re not walking this path alone. We’re building an inclusive Edmonton together — one where everyone has the opportunity to belong. ”

Laurel McCalla,
Director of Development,
Boyle Street Community Services

We are proud to be a trusted partner for empowering charities, businesses, and the broader community to create lasting solutions.

In 2024, Boyle Street Community Services and EPCOR established an endowment fund with ECF to support the long-term maintenance of the new King Thunderbird Centre in downtown Edmonton.

ECF contributed an initial $100,000 in matching funds and EPCOR further amplified community impact by committing $375,000 through its Heart + Soul program, matching donations from the public to the endowment campaign. All together, the fund now sits at more than $960,000.

Our collaboration ensures that vulnerable Edmontonians receive critical services with dignity when they need it most. This includes access to social workers, occupational therapists, nurses and 38 units of affordable housing on site.

ECF Staff

Rebranding for a stronger future

Guided by input from donors, grantees, community partners, and staff, we revitalized ECF’s purpose, mission, vision, and values in 2024 — each one reinforcing our commitment to building a city where everybody can thrive. This clarity of purpose and deeper alignment with the communities we serve informed our bold new look. We want Edmontonians to see themselves in ECF. Our new website and simplified URL, ecf.ca, make it easier to connect with our work and the causes you care about.

Building capacity for greater impact

In 2024, we grew across multiple departments, welcoming new team members who share our commitment to community-building. Added roles in community impact allow us to move the needle on complex issues and measure outcomes, while a new equity advancement position supports our vision for a more inclusive city. We also strengthened our student awards, philanthropy, and communications teams. Our increased capacity ensures ECF remains a trusted partner for all community builders — we think big, listen deeply, and lead with purpose.

Left to right Peter Keith, Mary Bailey, Scott Downey

“The professionalism, knowledge and experience of everyone at ECF was incredible. We couldn’t have done it without them.”

Mary Bailey,
co-founder of the
Jasper Hospitality Fund

Together we are resilient.

When wildfires tore through Jasper in July 2024, Edmonton’s hospitality community mobilized. Led by Mary Bailey (The Tomato Food & Drink), Peter Keith (Muewly’s), Scott Downey (Butternut Tree) and Kaelin Whittaker (Awn Kitchen), YEG Hospitality for Jasper formed to support displaced hospitality workers — the bartenders, servers, and kitchen staff who make Jasper special.

Knowing they needed a trusted partner to turn their vision into action, the group partnered with ECF to establish the Jasper Hospitality Fund. Unlike an endowment, which is invested and grown over time, the Jasper Hospitality Fund is a flowthrough fund that can deliver fast, flexible support — providing $40,000 to help the hospitality sector recover.

“By partnering with ECF through the Northern Alberta Resiliency Fund, we have been able to do more together — combining our strengths to support Jasper’s recovery and rebuild its essential social infrastructure.”

Laurie Edward,
Executive Director,
Banff Canmore Foundation

We also rapidly activated the Northern Alberta Resiliency Fund to provide urgent support to other sectors in Jasper. Thanks in part to a $100,000 matching commitment from ECF, over $260,000 was raised from donors across the country.

We partnered with the Banff Canmore Foundation to ensure that decisions about how best to use the funds were made locally and supported social infrastructure needs that insurance wouldn’t cover. From community services to local recovery initiatives, this fund reflects our commitment to supporting communities not just immediately, but throughout the years it takes to truly rebuild.

Together we innovate.

“ ECF makes it possible to fulfill our philanthropic and spiritual commitments, investing in people who will carry these values forward for generations to come. ”

Riad Assaf,
Senior Portfolio Manager,
Investment Advisor

Learning from the past

In May 2024, we released our feature documentary Pride vs. Prejudice: The Delwin Vriend Story. The film chronicles the courageous journey of Delwin Vriend who was fired from a Christian college in Edmonton because he is gay, and the landmark legal battle that followed and reshaped 2SLGBTQ+ rights in Canada.

After premiering at Edmonton’s Rainbow Visions Film Festival in 2024, the film continues to garner international acclaim from film festivals across Canada and the USA. The film honours a pivotal moment in Canadian human rights history and exemplifies how storytelling can spark dialogue and deepen understanding of issues still relevant today.

“ This film is giving 2SLGBTQ+ people around the world a powerful reminder that change is possible — and that their rights matter. ”

Doug Stollery,
Executive Director,
Pride vs. Prejudice

Inclusive giving

Endowments enable lasting impact, but traditional investment models can conflict with cultural or religious values. Recognizing this barrier, ECF created Canada’s first Shariah Compliant Investment Portfolio in 2022. This innovation allows Muslim donors to grow endowments aligned with their faith principles.

In 2024, ECF’s CFO, Chris Quinn and ECF Investment Committee member, Riad Assaf were honoured by the Al Rashid Education Foundation for their leadership in making charitable giving more accessible, demonstrating how innovation and inclusion can strengthen the future of philanthropy.

Together we build community.

“ ECF is a trusted partner, helping Free Play for Kids turn bold ideas into lasting impact through support, guidance, and collaboration. ”

Tim Adams,
Founder & Executive Director,
Free Play for Kids

“ Through ECF and the BBMAs, I’ve been embraced by a family that uplifts and reminds me that I’m capable, and deserving, of walking paths I never thought possible. ”

Breane Mahlitz
Law student and BBMA recipient

Education is the future

The Belcourt Brosseau Métis Awards (BBMAs) provide financial support to Métis Albertans pursuing post-secondary education, offering scholarships of up to $10,000 each year. Established in 2001 by Orval Belcourt, Dr. Herb Belcourt, and Georges Brosseau QC, the BBMAs foster self-sufficiency and opportunity for Métis students through education and skills development.

Over the past two decades, the BBMAs have awarded more than $12 million to more than 1,800 Métis students across Alberta. Today, the BBMAs remain one of the largest non-governmental sources of funding for Métis learners in Canada — helping students achieve their educational dreams, strengthen their communities, and build a brighter future for generations to come.

Growing through play

With $50,000 of support from our Community Grants Program, Free Play for Kids delivered free, inclusive after-school programming to 720 children in Grades 3 to 6 across 24 high-needs schools. Operating from local recreation centres, the program offered a safe, structured, and fun environment four days a week.

Beyond the games and activities, the biggest impact was the development of social and emotional skills — a change noticed not only by coaches, but by parents and teachers too. By removing financial and logistical barriers, Free Play helps families reduce the strain of poverty while empowering kids to thrive through connection and play.

Together we make lasting impacts.

“ Jessica never spoke a word, but through this fund, she has a voice. ”

Carisa & Neville Britton

Building a legacy of love

When Jessica Carisa Britton was born on February 11, 2019, she brought boundless love into the world — and into the hearts of her parents. Though she lived only a few hours, Jessica made a profound impact on her family that continues to ripple outward.

After her passing, the Britton family created the Jessica Carisa Britton Fund at ECF to honour her memory. Through this fund, Jessica’s legacy lives on in a world she never got to know — one rooted in compassion, empathy, and care for others.

Creating sustainability

Our Endowment Sustainability Program (ESP) has helped 144 local charities build long-term financial resilience since launching in 2013. Of those, 110 organizations now hold at least one endowment fund at ECF — including 28 that started their funds after completing the program. This includes Fringe Theatre Adventures, which works year-round to support local artists and produce innovative performances. To build long-term financial stability, the organization joined ESP in 2022. Through hands-on training and strategic guidance, Fringe Theatre Adventures has developed a stronger approach to endowment building and legacy giving — ensuring its creative impact can continue for generations.

“ With ECF’s kaleidoscope of support, we’ve grown our endowments — these essential investments help ensure Fringe Theatre remains in service to the creative community for years to come. ”

Megan Dart,
Executive Director,
Fringe Theatre

Together we invest in community.

“ ECF and the Social Enterprise Fund stood with us; not just as funders, but as visionaries who believe in building a more equitable city. ”

Investing beyond endowments

Social impact investments generate both financial returns and measurable social change. Unlike traditional grants, they create a sustainable cycle where repaid capital is reinvested into new community initiatives, expanding our impact over time. Aligning our financial assets with our mission ensures our capital is driving positive community outcomes while maintaining financial sustainability.

Through the Social Enterprise Fund, ECF supports social purpose organizations with the money we invest. Since 2008, SEF has invested over $90 million across more than 110 Alberta-based social enterprises. This includes 42 initiatives in 2024, such as the Jasper Place Wellness Centre’s (JPWC) Healing House model, which provides transitional housing and comprehensive support services to vulnerable Edmontonians.

We’ve also committed $3.5M to Raven Indigenous Capital Partners Fund I and Fund II to foster long-term prosperity through capacity building and generating wealth within Indigenous communities.

Through these investments, we’re not only creating direct impact but helping to build a more robust social innovation ecosystem that brings additional capital and resources to community challenges.

Combined Funds

Combined Funds allow donors to designate a portion of their annual disbursements to the charities closest to their hearts, while allowing the remainder to support Edmonton's most pressing needs as identified by ECF. It's a powerful way to honour personal values while remaining responsive to a changing world.

Together we are thankful.

“Through ECF’s Wills Week, I’ve had the honour of giving back to my community by helping others navigate some of life’s most important decisions around wills, estates, and planning for the future.”

Colleen Feehan,
ECF professional advisor

Sharing expertise, strengthening community

We are deeply grateful for the many individuals who contribute their time, expertise, and passion to strengthen our community. This includes our Board of Directors, committee members, professional advisors and volunteers. In 2024, 92 volunteers dedicated approximately 820 hours to helping ECF serve the community.

One such individual is Colleen Feehan, a wills & estates lawyer who has generously volunteered with ECF for over a decade. Through her involvement in our annual Will Week sessions, Colleen offers invaluable guidance on preparing Wills, administering estates, and navigating estate litigation. Her commitment helps ensure that Edmontonians have access to essential legal advice, empowering them to make informed decisions about their legacies. It’s dedicated volunteers like Colleen — and the dozens of others giving their time and talents — who help us stay connected, trusted and effective.
